Q: How do I set an Android/iPhone app icon for my game? I am developing a very basic game engine (in Java) with the Google Android SDK. I have already got the basics in place to be able to load up various assets (textures, etc) and easily handle displaying them to the player. What I have not been able to get my head around is how to set the splash screen and icon for the application and how to handle the Activity onCreate method so that my game is loaded. I have seen lots of resources on setting the icon in the app package in the xml file but I can't find anything about setting the icon as an external image asset and loading it via a URL. Any help would be much appreciated. A: You could start by looking at the Google docs. They provide complete instructions for generating the icons in the right size. I've written a small tutorial which shows the process. That tutorial works for creating the Android app icon and the iOS app icon, but you would need to adapt it to suit the iOS and Android SDK you are using. You should be able to also do the splash screen as that is the whole point of the tutorial. /* Module definition and import interface */ #ifndef Py_IMPORTMODULE_H #define Py_IMPORTMODULE_H #ifdef __cplusplus extern "C" { #endif PyAPI_FUNC(PyObject *) PyImport_AddModule(const char *); PyAPI_FUNC(PyObject *) PyImport_AddModuleDict(PyObject *); PyAPI_FUNC(int) PyImport_ExecCodeModule(const char *, PyObject *, PyObject *); #ifndef Py_LIMITED_API PyAPI_FUNC(PyObject *) _PyImport_FindBuiltinModule(const char ); #endif /!Py_LIMITED_API / #ifdef __cplusplus } #endif #endif /!Py_IMPORTMODULE_H */ 1.
